Visual Voices, started in 2002 by art teacher and local artist Lolita Demers, has grown into a biennial city-wide art event thanks to the collaborative efforts of local galleries, art teachers and the incredible student artists.

Thank you to the Lowell Public Schools, the Lowell Cultural Council and the Massachusetts Cultural Council for their continued support of the student artists in Lowell.

Visual Voices is organized by a dedicated group of art teachers including Julia D'Angelo, Murkland School, Lolita Demers, Morey School, Chrissy Dixon, McAuliffe School, Marta Magnus, Lowell High School, Erin Noonan, Lincoln School, Denise Piekos, Bartlett School, and Dr. Sharon Clark, Fine Arts Department Chair, LHS.
